and eighty in the steerage on the last voyage to Liverpool.

The Arabic has been utilized to carry great quantities of war munitions purchased in the United States for Great Britain. Further, on which the Arabic is reported to have gone down, lies close to the lane of steamship traffic between England and America. It is about forty miles west of Old Head of Inish, near which the Lusitania was sunk. German submarines have been active in these waters since the declaration by the German government in February of a naval war some around the British Isles.

The Arabic, a twin screw steamship, arrived in New York on her maiden trip in July 5, 1907, having been launched at Belfast on December 19 of the previous year. At that time she was one of the largest steamships engaged in trans Atlantic trade.

The White Star liner Arabic, which sailed yesterday from Liverpool for New York has been sent to the bottom off Boston in the south coast of Ireland, not far from the point at which the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine.

Such reports as were available in London early this evening indicated that a large number of the 410 persons on board may have been lost. The first reports were that all of the passengers and crew had been rescued by another steamer. Subsequently, however, it was reported that the Arabic had come down in eleven minutes, raising the question whether it would have been possible to rescue all on board in that brief time.

A message to the White Star company left this question open. It said that fifteen or sixteen boat loads were making for Queenstown and from this the company inferred that the greater part of the passengers and crew were saved.

A second message received a few minutes after the one announcing the vessel had sailed contained the information that the Arabic had aboard the cabin passengers and 45 in the steerage. This message contained no reference to the reported sinking of the vessel.

The Arabic, one of the few large White Star vessels, was on her last outward voyage from this port on July 28 last. She had aboard 158 passengers and approximately 16,000 tons of cargo, almost all of which was war supplies.

Aeroplane and automobiles formed the chief portion of the cargo.

Attack by a German submarine apparently was feared when the vessel left New York for strand her steering gear there were piled numerous sand bags as a protection against run fire. This also was taken as an indication that in case she were sighted by a U boat the big liner intended to take a chance at getting away, trusting to her speed.

The crew usually consisted of about 250 men. It was assumed today that she had this number aboard when she left Liverpool yesterday. All the crew, it was said, was of foreign citizenship.

ment. Captain Will Finch commanded the ship.

Fifteen boat loads of the Arabic's passengers and crew have been saved, according to a cable dispatch received here at 2:30 p. m. by the White Star line. The dispatch followed. "The Arabic sailed Wednesday afternoon with a cargo and mails and 175 passengers and was sunk by a German submarine at 2:15 o'clock this morning off the south coast of Ireland. Hopful that all passengers and crew have been saved, as fifteen boat loads were rescued."

The mail aboard the vessel, it was said at the White Star line, consisted of 2,300 bags of letters and 126 bags of parcel post matter.

A representative of the line pointed out that the life boats would hold a maximum of fifty to sixty persons each. The early report that fifteen boats were making for Queenstown was considered an indication that many persons had been saved. Fifteen boats, it was pointed out, would hold from 150 to 300 persons if filled to capacity. The total number aboard the Arabic was placed at approximately 422.

Big Department Store Takes Over Large Stock and will Give Patrons Exceptional Purchasing Opportunities.

With customary aggressiveness and eagerness to make purchases which will result greatly to the advantage of their numerous patrons, the Rosenwald Brothers have taken over the rest of the wholesale stock of the H. Feld-Spitz company. Buying this stock at an opportune time, the Rosenwalds were enabled to secure it below eastern jobbers' cost. Just what this means will be demonstrated before long, when the stock will be placed on sale at Rosenwald's at remarkably low prices.

The stock consists of lace, neck goods, notions, ribbons, children's hats and many other articles for women and children.

PHYSICIAN KEEPS ADICT SUPPLIED WITH DOPE

Questions put to a dope fiend by the police today elicited information that the addict had been supplied steadily with morphine by a physician since last April. The man was under treatment, and there was nothing illegal in supplying him with the drug, but the police regard the incident as an interesting sidelight on the drug evil.

HUTCHINSON BACK WITH STOCK OF NEW WRINKLES

University Coach Has Been Spending Several Months Studying Athletics and Methods in East.

With a bagful of new tricks, especially of the football variety, R. F. Hutchinson, athletic director of the University of New Mexico, has returned from a trip to the east.

Mr. Hutchinson was away by the faculty to study athletics and coaching methods at the big eastern universities. He was gone several months and in that time he applied himself to analyzing and absorbing the manner in which athletics were fostered and taught at the big schools.

Much of his time was spent at Princeton. Hutchinson is an ex-Princeton football player, and he had open sesame to all the Tiger's secret chambers. He learned all that the Princeton coaches could tell him of football plays and coaching wrinkles.

Mr. Hutchinson lost no time in getting to work after his return. He got back yesterday and it was yesterday that he had track men on the cinder path. He had them out a few hours after he stepped off the train.

The football squad will be called out for practice early next week. There is good material on hand, with some of last year's team to form a nucleus for a smooth-working eleven.

DETAILS OF DEATH OF MRS. PATTIE M. TURNER

Numerous Albuquerque friends of Mrs. Pattie M. Turner, for a long time an employee in Rosenwald's department store here, and whose death occurred recently in Hisebe, Arizona, will be interested to learn of the particulars of her passing. Mrs. Turner was to have been married in October to George J. Heardon, a prominent Hisebe man. The Hisebe Daily Review contains the following article regarding Mrs. Turner's death, which occurred in Hisebe on Wednesday, August 4th:

Lying cold in the passageway between the present and past, the smile of a nature and smiling self upon the lips, bespeaking of a nature that was friendly and kept them, is Pattie M. Turner. The angle of life's plane reached its end, for Mrs. Turner, yesterday afternoon at 4:45.

Bright hopes and brighter future, were blasted when Mrs. Turner died. She was to have been married to George J. Heardon, during the month of October. All of the arrangements for the union had been completed and the demise of the bride-to-be has been more than a blow to Mr. Heardon.

The direct cause of death was intestinal obstruction. Mrs. Turner, happy and apparently healthy Saturday evening, was taken ill at one o'clock Sunday morning. She was removed to the Copper Queen hospital Sunday evening. One year ago she was operated on at the Mayo Brothers' hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, for gastric ulcers. When she arrived at the local hospital and the nature of the malady known, little hope was held for her recovery.

Tuesday evening, after all else had failed and in a final effort to save her life, the doctors decided on an operation. Her condition was such, however, that death followed yesterday afternoon.

The deceased came to Hisebe in the month of January from Albuquerque, New Mexico. She was placed in charge of the women's ready-to-wear department of the Phelps-Dodge Mercantile company. While there her friends, both from her fellow employees and patrons, increased daily until, with her death, a pall has shrouded itself wherever she was known.

Mrs. Turner and George Heardon were schoolmates in Los Angeles and when she arrived in Hisebe the old tie of friendship rapidly turned into those of love. It has been known to close friends of the couple for some time, that they were to be married in October.

Mrs. Turner and George Heardon and sister. Her father is one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity in the country, having been a member of that order for sixty-two years. He is living in San Rafael, California, and at this time. One sister was communicated with by Mr. Heardon and is expected to arrive in Hisebe Friday morning.

An interesting part of the career of Mrs. Turner was the time she spent with the Diaz government in the City of Mexico. She was an accomplished student of Spanish and was employed for several years in the secret service department of the Diaz government. She returned to the United States some time before the overthrow of the Diaz regime.

THE SHOOTING OF DAN MCGREW

Robert W. Service's famous poetic masterpiece, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," has been made into a five-part motion picture by the Popular Players and Players company, with Edmund Bruce, the powerful dramatic actor, in the leading role. "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" tells in its own red-blooded, live-man way of the life of Dan McGrew, of Timpano, Dan McGrew, of his months of struggle across the "flat-belted" trail, and his final meeting with Dan McGrew—the man who stole his wife and he killed.

Robert W. Service's poems have long been recognized as the most potent of American poetic fiction and included among others, "The Song of the Yukon," "The Heart of a Southerner," "The Parson's son," "The Call of the Wild," etc., etc.

The shooting of Dan McGrew" is in five parts and two hundred scenes, comes to the Pastime on Sunday and Monday.

GALVESTON SWEEP LINED UP FOR STATE FAIR

supply provisions and water are being made as rapidly as possible. Both ends of the causeway were washed out and it will be several weeks before direct rail connection can be resumed. Clangs of men are busily engaged in clearing the railroad tracks of the debris which is piled on them between Texas City Junction and Texas City. The warehouse and dock people of Texas City have placed these facilities at the disposal of a committee of Galveston people and as soon as rail communication can be made simple supplies can be sent across the bay in barges and United States transients.

The storm broke over the city at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The wind blew water from the bay, flooding the streets and cellars. Business men continued to work until nearly 9 o'clock removing goods to places of safety. At that hour, however, it was too late. From 1 to 6 feet deep in Market street and all side streets, water was running. The wind, blowing from the north, continued to increase its velocity until about 2 o'clock. At that hour, it is estimated, it had reached a velocity of from 30 to 124 miles an hour.

Meanwhile it was blowing from the north around to the east and then came directly out of the south. It was this south wind, sending in the waves from the gulf against the sea wall which did the damage to the western part of the city and to the business district. At no time, however, say those who were on the night in the Hotel Galvez, did the sea run clear across the wall. The breakers thundered against it, sending the spray high in the air, and the waves broke over the wall with terrific force. So great was the force that the two granite monuments which were placed at the foot of Tremont street to commemorate the storm of 1903 were blown clear across this boulevard, a distance of more than fifty feet.

In other places the iron posts have been bent double and the granite coping on the sea wall has been wrenched from its base. The huge stones being carried a block or more.

The wreckage from the shattered buildings, nearly all of which were of frame construction, is piled high in all parts of the city. Telephone, telegraph and trolley poles and wires make an indecipherable tangle. Public service corporations probably will be unable to resume operations for a month.

Practically all the show windows in the city were broken and in some places roofs torn off. The total number of houses of all kinds exclusive of sheds, which were wrecked is estimated at 500. One of the greatest losses to Galveston is the partial destruction of the causeway.

The great concrete bridge—the connecting link between the island and mainland—was completed barely two years ago. Both approaches, approximating 2,000 feet, are gone. The east side of the causeway is said to have been torn away by one of the dredges which is believed to have sunk subsequently out in the channel. The other was battered down by a giant oil tank which floated from the Pierce-Perry refinery near Texas City. There were six of these tanks, valued at from $5,000 to $10,000 each and holding approximately 25,000 barrels of oil which were lost. But for this oil, which tended to ally the height of the waves, it is believed the loss at Texas City would have been even greater.

The greatest loss of life known to have been sustained at any one place, is said to have occurred at a Virginia Point at the eastern end of the causeway. Of 75 persons said to have been in a hotel which collapsed there, not more than 25 were able to save themselves.

MARSH ISLAND NOT WARNED OF HURRICANE

New Orleans, Aug. 19.—No reports have been received here early today from Marsh Island, 170 miles south-west of New Orleans, where more than 100 persons are believed to be marooned or lost. They were not warned of the approaching hurricane. Boats of the Louisiana state conservation commission have been ordered to go to the rescue.

MANY LOST LIVES IN BEAUMONT TERRITORY

Beaumont, Tex., Aug. 19.—News from the storm stricken district adjacent to Beaumont early today was gloomy but no more fatal than was reported. So far as known here, nearly a score of persons are dead, with a number reported as missing. Reports from Sabine and Sabine Pass, Texas, and Johnson's Bayou, and Levee, La., where heavy loss of life was feared, declared that all persons at those places were safe.

Many narrow escapes from death have been reported. The 400 residents of Johnson's Bayou saved their lives by taking refuge in tree tops, leaving their homes to be washed away.

A man drifted into Port Bolivar yesterday on a bale of cotton to which he had been clinging since Monday night. He was nearly dead from exposure. Thousands of cattle been lost.

Sellers and Hening Given Enthusiastic Reception at Clayton; Splendid Exhibits Are to be Gathered Together.

(Special Correspondence.)

Clayton, N. M., Aug. 18.—Union county, one of the richest, and just at present one of the most prosperous, counties in New Mexico, is coming to the state fair this year with an exhibit of resources that will require not less than two full sized freight cars to transport. It will be one of the finest of the county displays and if it does not win one of the big money prizes it will not be for lack of effort here, nor for that matter, will it be for lack of confidence, since the people of Clayton and vicinity believe they have the best crops in the whole state this year. As a matter of fact they have had a wonderful season on both farm and range. The small grain yields are phenomenal and the county is prosperous as it never was even in the early, rainy days when Clayton was a "cow town" and the vast area now being farmed was open range.

D. K. H. Smith and H. B. Hening, representing the state fair commission, reached Clayton at noon Tuesday. There was a crowd at the railroad station and along the main business street that choked the sidewalks. It looked like a fair or a circus day. But inquiry proved it only an ordinary business day in Clayton. It is the busiest town of the size in New Mexico and without any exaggeration the most prosperous. More than $50,000 worth of new store buildings are going up; new homes are many and new farmers are as common as the cactus in Clayton as are Ford automobiles, which is going some.

Appropriation Promptly Made.
The fair workers found the progressive management of the Union County Fair association in hearty accord with the state fair exhibit plan and its secretary, Dr. H. M. O'Leary, an experienced fair man, gave it his most cordial approval; as did G. J. Grandview, John Spring, Carl Eklund and others of the local fair management, who joined in the request that the county commission make the necessary appropriation to finance the collection of exhibits.

A Live County Board.
The fair workers found the same hearty co-operation in the county commission, who acted promptly and generously, as soon as they found the exact purpose of the appropriation asked. The fair workers reached Clayton at 11:30 Tuesday morning. At 4:30 in the afternoon the appropriation had been made and the contract signed for Union county's space in the state fair exhibit hall.

Thomas S. Snyder of the county commission, made a careful inquiry into the purposes of the appropriation, while Commissioner Martin L. Casey, who came in 40 miles from his home at Pecos, to attend the meeting, Commissioner Salome Garcia of Gallegos giving his approval by phone. With the local fair managers present the commission voted the appropriation. While the fair men promised to furnish the men and any other money necessary to prepare the best exhibit ever taken out of the county. It will pay to watch Union county's exhibit. It will be a dandy.

County in Fine Shape.

The county generally is in excellent shape financially, due to Captain Snyder's close personal attention. The tax levies for county general purposes have been reduced each year since his election while the court fund has been up from three mills to one mill and there is a balance now of $5,000 in the court fund. They say here that Judge Lieb is a great judge. He certainly is an economical one. He ran the last term of court here for less than $1,500, a record for economy, and left a clean desk.

The pride of Captain Snyder's heart is the court house, a fine building. It is worth the trip to Clayton just to see the broad expanse of green that has taken the place of an ugly and waste. The lawn was laid out and planted this spring, and there is not a more beautiful expanse of green in the state, not even around the state capital at Santa Fe. Captain Snyder and his associates are giving time and thought and enthusiasm to the county business and they are getting fine results.

A Successful County Fair.
The Union county fair to be held here September 13, 15, 17, is a thoroughly successful enterprise. The association owns its own fair grounds and Dr. O'Leary, the secretary, has several splendid successes to his credit. He will have personal charge of preparing and installing the state fair exhibit which will include not only farm, garden and orchard products, but dairy and range stock and horses. The fair workers saw a four-year-old stallion, weighing 1,800 pounds and worth $2,500, which is a sample of the livestock that this county will send to Albuquerque. There are 15 stallions of the same class in Union county.

Union County's Transformation.
Cut off as it is from the rest of the state, few New Mexico people know of the transformation that has taken place in Union county in the past half dozen years. Five years ago there were 800,000 sheep in Union county. Now there are less than 200,000. The range the sheep used to have been turned into farms; farms that this year are producing 50 bushels of wheat and 60 to 80 bushels of oats to the acre, without irrigation, splendid corn and good alfalfa, while around every farm is a bunch of pure blood cattle, some hogs and first class horses. No section of Kansas today can beat the farm products of Union county, as they propose to show the rest of the state at the fair. The streets of Clayton are choked with farm machinery and equipment and the automobiles of farmers. It is a transformation that has doubled values and made a frontier village a bustling, prosperous, permanent farming town with a future settled and assured.

DETECTIVE HERE ON TRAIL OF $16,000 BRIDEGROOM

Albert Hiram Oliver, Accused of Taking Fortune Away from Bride, Leaves Just Ahead of Trailer.

Albert Hiram Oliver was in the city a day or two ago and escaped arrest by an unbreakable. Albert Hiram got out of town just in time to avoid a description from the Thiel agency of Kansas City.

Albert Hiram is a $16,000 bridegroom. That is to say, Albert Hiram is alleged to be a $16,000 bridegroom. It is said of Albert Hiram that he married a beautiful girl in Wichita, Kansas, got a large possession of $16,000 she had, and skipped.

An agent from the Thiel company traced him to this city. The detective got in last night and called on Chief of Police McMill this morning. He told the chief that he had established the fact that Albert Hiram was here a couple of days ago. Albert Hiram was gone, and McMill had to pick up the trail again.

Albert Hiram is twenty-six years old. The picture that adorns the wanted offer left here by the Thiel detective shows a cheerful boy who could be trusted to give $16,000 the time of his life. Here is a free-lance description of Albert Hiram, maybe you met him when he was here:

ALBERT HIRAM OLIVER.
